

Frequently Asked Questions(FAQs)

Zine Making: Adventures in Feminist Publishing

APPLICATION DEADLINE: 29 OCTOBER 2023

What does ‘Dalit, Adivasi/Tribal, and Bahujan communities’ mean?

Individuals belonging to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes, as well as other caste-oppressed and Tribal communities who do not fall under these categories.

What is a Statement of Motivation?

In order to complete the application process for the workshop, participants are required to submit a Statement of Motivation. In this document/video, applicants should express their reasons for seeking to participate, as well as demonstrate their enthusiasm and commitment to feminist work and practices. It provides an opportunity for applicants to present themselves and to showcase their potential to benefit from the workshop.

I am a queer person from the mainland but belong to an upper-caste community. Can I still apply for the workshop?

No. This workshop is open to women, queer, trans and non-binary persons from Northeast India and from Dalit, Adivasi/Tribal, and Bahujan communities. You are eligible to apply if you are a woman, queer, trans and non-binary person from the said communities from mainland India.

Do I have to be an artist/graphic designer to apply for this workshop?

Not necessarily. Anyone interested in learning about Zine-making in the context of feminist practices can apply, regardless of artistic background.
